The Sagri Chakrateertha Sri Umamaheshwara Temple in Udupi is a significant spiritual site known for its ancient heritage and unique natural spring. Below is the detailed information for your documentation:

Location

The temple is situated at Sagri, near Manipal, in the Udupi district of Karnataka. It is located approximately 3 km from the Tiger Circle in Manipal and about 5 km from the famous Udupi Sri Krishna Matha.

How to Get There

- By Road: You can reach the temple via auto-rickshaws or taxis from Udupi or Manipal. It is a short drive from the Manipal-Karkala highway.
- By Rail: The nearest station is Udupi Railway Station (Indrali), located about 4 km away.
- By Air: The nearest airport is Mangaluru International Airport (IXE), approximately 60 km from Udupi.

Speciality of This Temple

The hallmark of this temple is the Chakrateertha, a perennial natural holy spring. The water from this spring flows continuously throughout the year and is used for the temple's daily rituals. Devotees believe the water has purifying properties. The temple is also noted for its serene, forest-like atmosphere despite being close to the urban center of Manipal.

History and Legends

While specific recorded dates of its origin are ancient, the temple has undergone significant renovations in recent years. Legend associates the site with the "Chakra" (disc) of Lord

Vishnu, which is said to have created the Teertha (water body) here. It is traditionally considered a Siddha Kshetra where sages performed penance.

Architecture

The temple follows the traditional Coastal Karnataka (Gajaprishta/Apsidal) style of architecture. It features a sloping tiled roof to withstand heavy monsoon rains. Recently, a grand new Dhwajastambha (flag post) was consecrated (March 2023), and the temple complex has been modernized with granite carvings while maintaining its traditional Vastu principles.

Main Deity and Sub-Deities

- Main Deity: Lord Umamaheshwara (Lord Shiva with Goddess Parvati).
- Sub-deities: The complex includes shrines for Lord Ganapathi, Subrahmanya, and a dedicated space for Naga Devata (Serpent God).

Daily Rituals and Poojas

The temple follows a strict schedule of Nitya Vidhis:

- Nirmalya Visarjane: Early morning.
- Abhisheka: Performed daily to the Shiva Linga.
- Maha Pooja: Usually held around noon.
- Evening Deepotsava: Lighting of lamps at dusk.

Special Poojas and Charges

(Note: Charges are subject to change by the temple trust; current estimates are provided)

- Rudrabhisheka: Performed for health and prosperity.
- Shani Pooja: Often performed on Saturdays.
- Ranga Pooja: A grand offering of lamps and food.
- Naga Pratishta/Ashlesha Bali: Performed at the Naga shrine.
- Approximate Charges: Simple Archana starts from ₹10–₹25; specialized Sevas like Rudrabhisheka or Ranga Pooja range from ₹500 to ₹5,000+. It is recommended to contact the temple office directly for the latest "Seva List."

Festivals Celebrated

- Maha Shivaratri: The most important festival, celebrated with night-long vigils and special Abhishekas.
- Laksha Deepotsava: The festival of lights where thousands of oil lamps are lit around the temple.
- Annual Rathotsava: The temple car festival.
- Nagara Panchami: Special rituals at the Naga shrine.

Facilities for Devotees

- Accommodation: The temple itself does not have extensive lodging, but being near Manipal/Udupi, there are numerous options nearby (e.g., Hotel Fortune Valley View, Country Inn, or various Matha Guest Houses in Udupi).
- Annadhana: On special occasions and festival days, meals (Prasadam) are served to devotees.
- Parking: Ample space is available near the temple entrance.

Do's and Don'ts

- Dress Code: Traditional attire is preferred (Sari/Churidar for women, Dhoti/Formal pants for men). Men are often required to remove their shirts before entering the Garbhagriha (sanctum sanctorum) area for certain Sevas.
- Photography: Usually prohibited inside the inner sanctum.
- Chakrateertha: Maintain the sanctity of the water tank; do not use soaps or detergents in the holy spring.

Nearby Attractions

- Nearby Temples: Udupi Sri Krishna Matha, Anantheshwara Temple, and Indrali Durga Parameshwari Temple.
- Nearby Tourist Spots: Malpe Beach, St. Mary's Island, and the End Point park in Manipal which offers a panoramic view of the Swarna River.
- Nearby Hotels: Fortune Valley View (Manipal), Hotel Kediyoor (Udupi), and various budget lodges near the Udupi bus stand.

Sagri Chakratheertha Sri Umamaheshwara Temple, Udupi

Location:
Sri Umamaheshwara Temple (also called Sagri Chakrateertha or Chakratheertha Sri Umamaheshwara Temple) is located in Sagri/Padu Sagri or Doddanagudde area, near Kunjibettu, Udupi, Karnataka (PIN around 576102). It is situated along or near the Manipal Road. The temple is named after the nearby sacred pond/tirtha called Chakratheertha (or Chakratirtha).

How to get there:

By Road: Easily accessible from Udupi city (a few km away). It lies near Manipal Road. Use Google Maps or local transport (auto-rickshaws, taxis, or buses from Udupi).

By Train: Udupi Railway Station (~4-8 km away), then local transport.

By Air: Mangaluru International Airport (~60 km), then taxi or bus to Udupi and onward to the temple.

Udupi is well-connected by NH-66.

Speciality of this temple:

It is a relatively humble, peaceful Shiva temple featuring a Linga-form of Uma Maheshwara. The presence of the sacred Chakratheertha pond gives the place its name and spiritual significance (tirtha for holy baths/rituals). It is one of the lesser-known but devoutly visited temples in the Udupi region, popular among locals for its serene environment and proximity to other shrines. Car/rath festivals and flagpole processions are celebrated with devotion.

History and legends:

Detailed historical records or ancient legends specific to this temple appear limited in publicly available sources. It is an older temple in the Udupi region (part of the rich Shaiva heritage of coastal Karnataka). The Chakratheertha pond is a key feature. Like many Udupi-area temples, it may have connections to local traditions, possibly Parashurama legends common in the region, but no prominent specific story is widely documented online. One visitor noted difficulty in gathering extensive history but highlighted its peaceful presence near the tirtha.

Architecture:

It is described as a humble, traditional abode rather than a grand monumental structure. The main sanctum houses the Shiva Linga (Uma Maheshwara form), with an adjacent smaller sanctum for Ganesha. Expect typical South Indian/Karnataka temple elements like simple vimana, possibly some stone carvings or Naga stones common in the region. Recent additions include a new flagpole (dhwaja stambha) with a procession held in 2023.

Main deity and subdeities:

Main Deity: Sri Uma Maheshwara (Shiva in Linga form, representing the union of Shiva and Parvati/Uma).

Subdeity: Ganesha (in an adjacent sanctum).

Daily rituals and poojas and their charges / Special poojas and their charges:

Specific seva lists and current charges are not widely published online (typical for smaller temples; they may be displayed on-site or available via temple contact).
Standard practices likely include daily abhisheka, archana, aarti, and naivedya.
Special offerings like Rudrabhishekam or Ganapati poojas are common at such temples.

Contact the temple for latest timings and rates.

Larger Udupi temples (e.g., Krishna Matha) have detailed sevas, but this one is simpler.

Festivals celebrated:

Annual Varshika Mahotsavam / Car (Rath) festival — processions and celebrations (e.g., noted in Feb 2025).

Flagpole (Dhwaja Stambha) installation and Shobha Yatra (e.g., March 2023).

Likely major Shiva-related festivals like Maha Shivaratri, and local events.

Facilities available for devotees (accommodation, etc.):

Limited on-site facilities expected (as it is a smaller temple).
Devotees typically stay in Udupi city or Manipal (plenty of hotels, lodges, and ashrams). Some temples offer basic pilgrim rooms—check directly. No prominent mentions of large dharmashalas here.

Do's and Don'ts:

Standard temple etiquette applies:

- Remove shoes before entering.
- Dress modestly (avoid revealing clothes).
- Maintain silence and respect inside the sanctum.
- Photography may be restricted.
- Follow any specific tirtha bathing rules at Chakratheertha.
- No non-veg, alcohol, or smoking on premises.

Nearby temples:

- Other Udupi/Moodu Sagri area temples (e.g., various Shiva, Ganapati, or local daivasthanams).
- Famous Udupi Sri Krishna Temple (main attraction in the city).
- Temples in Manipal and surrounding villages (e.g., other Uma Maheshwara or Subrahmanya temples).

Nearby hotels:

Udupi and Manipal have many options:

- Hotels near Udupi Krishna Temple (e.g., Hotel Sri Krishna Residency, Sriram Residency).
- Budget lodges and mid-range hotels in Udupi town.
- Manipal has more modern accommodations due to the university.

Nearby tourist spots:

- Udupi Sri Krishna Temple and surroundings.
- Malpe Beach, St. Mary's Island.
- Manipal (university town, museums).
- Other coastal spots, temples, and backwaters in Udupi district.

Any other info:

The temple offers a calm, devotional atmosphere ideal for those seeking quieter Shiva worship away from crowded sites. It has active community involvement (e.g., recent infrastructure like the new flagpole).
For the latest details on timings, poojas, or visits, contact locals or the temple trust directly, as smaller temples often rely on word-of-mouth and on-site notices.
Visiting during festivals provides a vibrant experience with processions

Note: Information is compiled from available public sources; for precise/current details (especially pooja charges and timings), visiting or direct inquiry is recommended.

Sagri Chakrateertha Sri Umamaheshwara temple. Udupi

The Sagri Chakrateertha Sri Umamaheshwara Temple is a small, historic shrine in Udupi, Karnataka, dedicated to Lord Shiva and Parvati in their united form. It holds spiritual significance for devotees seeking marital blessings and is located near the sacred Chakratheertha pond. [1][2]

Location

The temple is situated at Sagri, near Chakratheertha in Doddangudde, Udupi, Karnataka, close to the famous Udupi Sri Krishna Matha. It lies in the heart of Udupi town, making it easily accessible for pilgrims. [3][1]

How to Get There

From Udupi bus stand or railway station (about 2-3 km away), take an auto-rickshaw or local bus towards Car Street and Krishna Matha; the temple is a short walk from Chakratheertha pond. From Mangalore (60 km), frequent buses to Udupi followed by local transport work well; cabs or self-drive via NH66 are convenient. [4][2]

This image shows a nearby prominent temple in Udupi, illustrating the region's rich architectural heritage around sites like Sagri Chakratheertha.

Sri Krishna Temple

Speciality

The temple is renowned for depicting Uma-Maheshwara (Shiva-Parvati as a single linga form), symbolizing divine marital harmony, attracting newlyweds for blessings. Its humble yet sacred ambiance near Chakratheertha pond adds to its spiritual allure for Shiva devotees. [1][5]

History and Legends

References suggest an ancient origin, possibly linked to 11th-century sculptures found nearby in Udupi, part of Soma or Someshwara cults with Shiva on Nandi flanked by Parvati and ganas. Local lore ties it to the Chakratheertha site, a holy pond associated with Krishna legends from Udupi Matha. Detailed historical records are sparse, but it remains a quiet abode for Uma-Maheshwara worship. [6][1]

Architecture

The main sanctum features a unique linga-roopi (linga form) of Uma-Maheshwara, in a simple structure typical of local coastal Karnataka temples. While not elaborately Hoysala-style like some described nearby shrines, it embodies modest Dravidian influences with basic carvings. [1][5]

Main Deity and Sub-Deities

The primary deity is Sri Uma Maheshwara in linga form, representing Shiva and Parvati united. Sub-deities or associated figures may include standard Shiva attendants like Ganesha or Nandi, though specifics are not detailed in available sources. [1]

Daily Rituals and Poojas

Typical Shiva temple routines include morning abhishekam, afternoon naivedya, and evening aarti, likely from 6 AM to 8 PM based on similar local temples. Charges are nominal or free for basic poojas; contact temple priests for exact timings and fees, as specific details are unavailable. [7][2]

Special Poojas and Charges

Special poojas for newlyweds, such as kalyanotsava or rudrabhisheka, are popular but undocumented in charges here; expect Rs 100-500 based on Udupi norms. Newly married couples perform rituals for blessings. Verify on-site for 2026 schedules. [5]

Festivals Celebrated

Shiva-centric festivals like Maha Shivaratri and local Udupi events are observed, with possible annual pooja mahotsavas similar to Shivapadi nearby. Participation aligns with Udupi Matha calendar. [8][9]

Facilities for Devotees

Basic parking and priest assistance available; no dedicated accommodation at this small temple. Devotees use nearby Udupi Matha choultries or lodges like Meenakshi Inn or Anugraha Lodge (1-2 km away). [10][2]

Do's and Don'ts

Do remove footwear, maintain silence, and offer coconuts/fruits. Don't touch sanctum idols or litter the pond area; follow dress code (modest clothing). Photography may be restricted inside. [11]

Nearby Temples

- Udupi Sri Krishna Matha (1-2 km)
- Anantheshwara Temple
- Chandramoulishwara Temple at Car Street [12][10]

Nearby Hotels

Options include Hotel Janardana, Shambhavi Hotel, Hotel Udupi Inn near Krishna Matha (budget Rs 800-2000/night). Meenakshi Inn and Sri Ramakrishna Hotel offer AC/non-AC rooms close by. [12][10]

Nearby Tourist Spots

- Chakratheertha pond (adjacent)
- Udupi Sri Krishna Temple and Matha
- Malpe Beach (8 km), Kaup Beach (15 km) [3][13]

Other Info

The temple is open till 6 PM; best visited early morning. As a low-profile site, it combines with the Udupi pilgrimage circuit. For latest updates, check local Udupi temple boards or visit in person. [2][1]

ॐ त्र्यम्बकं यजामहे सुगन्धिं पुष्टिवर्धनम्।

Udupi is home to many temples. If we visit one temple per day in Udupi we need years together to complete all the temples of Udupi

While many temples of Udupi are well known, Udupi also houses many humble abodes which are away from public attention.

One among them is Uma Maheshwara temple of Sagri. Due to the presence of a pond called Chakrathirtha this place gets its name.

Just close to Chakrathirtha we find a humble abode dedicated to Uma Maheshwara.The main sanctum houses Linga roopi UmaMaheshwara. Just adjacent to the main sanctum we also find the sanctum of Ganesha.

I could not gather much about the history of the temple. Hope to collect the same in the future visit .Do visit this place when you travel by these roads
